

ABSTRACT

A data transferring apparatus for transferring liquid ejection data has a decoding unit having a decode circuit, which can perform hardware development on liquid ejection data, a line buffer for storing the liquid ejection data developed by a word unit and a compressed data inputting unit for transferring the liquid ejection data from an external part to the decode circuit.